

The NRP report says there is substantial evidence to support the teaching of the following comprehension strategies:

1. monitoring comprehension
2. using graphic and semantic organizers
3. generating and answering questions
4. recognizing text structure
5. summarizing
6. using prior knowledge
7. using mental imagery

