

Oh, the Places You'll Go!

Dr. Seuss is right! Life carries you to some wonderful places to meet lots of great people. On the following pages, I'll share some of the places I've been with Four-Blocks and the people I've been fortunate to meet.

'03 Orlando IRA Conference
Sylvia Ford and I with an old friend!

'03 IRA Conference
Sylvia Ford and I with the author of Possimundus

'03 Orlando IRA with Sylvia and my hero, Mem Fox.

Out for a fun evening with principal,
Sierra Jackson, and the wonderful teachers at Custer Hill Elem. in Manchester, Kansas.

A wonderful teacher, Mike Adamski, at Amity Primary Center in Redding, PA, sings the Word Wall with his students!

A great night and day in Redding, PA, with language arts coordinators, Charlene Richards and Carol Fredericks!

I'm exploring Arizona with Wanda Holbrook and her husband, Jim, while in Phoenix for training. The above snowman was taken above Flagstaff and the picture to the right shows ancient Native American housing..

Having lunch at Festung Ehrenbreitstein in Koblenz, Germany, with host, Dianne Yoesting.

Exploring Festung in Koblenz.

Attending the Spargel (white asparagus) festival in the village of Schwetzingen, Germany.

Teachers from Richland One in Columbia, SC, are hard at work at a recent Make and Take Workshop.

I had a wonderful day visiting with eighth grade teacher, Joy Dewing, at Central Middle School in Kokomo, IN, where Joy is using modifications of Four-Blocks with all of her classes—even GT. (Jan. 2004)

Here I am meeting with teacher Scott Sterk during a recent visit to N. Miami Elem., Denver, IN.

Here's Rhonda Reed from N. Miami Elem. She's a regular contributor to my website, an extraordinary 1st grade teacher, and a great friend.

(L to R)Mentone principal, Katie Miller, and curriculum specialists, Marlene Nell, and Brenda Vanlaningham and me.

This is dynamic Mentone Elementary principal, Katie Miller. Katie took me on a visit to her barn to see newborn calves the night before! What a treat!

Here I am modeling a writing mini-lesson with the kids at Mentone Elementary in Mentone, IN.

Reading with kindergarteners at Mentone Elementary.